“Who Do You Say I Am?”

WEEK 2 TERM 3, 2013

26 July 2013

Dear Parents, Carers, Students and Friends of the College,

Thank you for your support in ensuring a smooth start to Term 3. Our students have returned to school well dressed, well rested and with good intentions. Our first week was richer also because of the opportunity we had to meet with you and discuss your child's progress.

The additional time provided for Parent/Teacher/Student conversations was the result of your feedback to us at the beginning of the year. Many parents then indicated that they did not get an opportunity to see all of our teachers due to time constrictions. It is our hope that all parents will make appointments with teachers. These conversations often clear up misunderstandings, assist students to set goals and allow us to affirm our students in your presence.

Conversations that occur between parents, teachers and students are absolutely pivotal in creating change or learning from previous performances. As I've said many times before, when school and home have a common understanding around effective learning, the great benefactor is indeed the student.

Lastly, you may have noticed that the College Diary has an increased emphasis this term. Our ongoing clarification around home learning has strengthened our commitment to this process. Students will have their homework recorded with a suggested time allocation to complete the task. We ask that you check the diary every week.

World Youth Day

If you haven't logged into the WYD blog, you are missing out! The photos of our students involved in missionary work are inspirational. Our students have rolled up their sleeves and helped to build stairs along with hundreds of other pilgrims. The town they visited is built on a muddy slope, movement between shacks and buildings is precarious. The added stairs means that locals may be in a better position to get water and electricity provided. I have included some quotes from Mr Ghignone and our pilgrims. For more information visit the link below:

‘Today we were fortunate enough to visit the happy people of Pamplona a second and final time. This time we went to local primary schools. Throughout the day, Clancy pilgrims taught the local students how to brush their teeth, applied fluoride to their teeth and taught them how to wash their hands.

The sense of joy shown by the local students was contagious! They were thrilled to see us, treating us like stars. Many of the kids came running up to the group of WYD pilgrims and instantly wanted to play games. Many new friends were made and much was learnt by the pilgrims.

What was apparent to me at the end of the two days is what an excellent group of students I am travelling with. In this short time they have shown cooperation, determination, faith and appreciation.’

Mark Ghignone WYD Coordinantor

Here are some reflections from the Clancy pilgrims!

‘The mission work has been a great experience. The way we were able to connect with the local kids despite the language barrier, was amazing.’ - Angela

‘The mission work we completed over the last two days has been the most rewarding thing I have ever done.’ - Jessica

'The mission work was really confronting. I met 2 young boys who called me as one of their friends, it was very touching, but the thing that got me was they smile no matter how bad it is' - Frankie

'Today we went to some of the primary schools and the highlight of my Lima trip so far was when I saw the smiles on the kids faces just by us entering through the door. All the pilgrims tried so hard to communicate and we all got so emotionally attached to all of them' - Rumbi

'The mission work has been one of the most confronting yet beautiful experiences that I have ever had. You can see on the kids faces that they are so happy by our visit and appreciate our hard work.' - Lucy

'The first two days of this life-altering experience, has been exactly that; life changing. The mission work that we have undertaken is probably the most beneficial thing I have been apart of. I cannot wait to see what the rest of the journey holds!' - Carissa

'The first two days of this pilgrimage has been life changing for not only myself but I think for everybody else as well. The highlight for me has been seeing the little kids being so happy and cheerful by us associating with them even if we don't understand each other but our hearts are both in the same place' - Maddi

'The last two days of doing mission work have been amazing, just like the beautiful people we met. It has been so rewarding seeing the smiles on the locals faces when we help them.' - Kaitlin

'The beginning of our journey has started with a few life changing experiences for everyone. We built a flight of stairs for people who would usually walk up a mountain of mud and rocks. It took some time and teamwork, but we got the job done. I felt very happy that I did something for someone.

'Today we went to a primary school and we gave the children presents and taught them how to brush their teeth. It was an eye opening experience and it has changed my perspective of life in a developing country and my own country.' - Jye

HSC PROGRESS

This Friday, our Year 12 students will be attending a Clancy BBQ to mark the end of their preparation for the trials. These exams begin next week. We wish this wonderful group of students all the very best and will continue to pray for their success. The trials are the best preparation for the HSC and indicate the beginning of a more intense and revision based focus.

Thank you to the great number of Year 12 teachers who ran tutorials for these students in the last holidays and indeed thank you to all parents who ensured their son/daughter attended.

Under the Leadership of Miss Alix Stirling, we were able to showcase our HSC 2013 Drama performances. This was a magical night for me as a Principal, but also for those in the audience, parents, teachers, former Year 12 students and current students who came to support our 7 Drama performers. It amazes me how people so young have the capacity to emphasise and develop characters much older than themselves and convey such passionate representations around issues they probably have not yet even encountered. Thank you Miss Stirling for your leadership here and thank you Year 12 students for your great courage and capacity to give.

Debating 2013

Congratulations to all of those involved in debating this year. Both our Year 7 and Year 8 Debating Teams are in the Finals. Our year 12's have made it to the Semifinals, which is an outstanding achievement for all students who participated in the ongoing competition. I firmly believe that students, who have enough confidence to articulate ideas, defend and form arguments are being set up very well for later on in life. It always makes me very proud to see students in their Clancy Uniform represent us so well.

My particular gratitude to all of our debating coaches this year and they are:

Year 7 - Mrs Lauren Drego

Year 8 - Mrs Josephine McKell and Mrs Liz Giusti

Year 9 - Miss Adriana Skibola

Year 10 - Miss Alix Stirling

Year 11 - Miss Jessica Burfitt and Miss Sarah Porters

Year 12 - Mrs Lauren Batty

MISA Year 8 - Mrs Katie Khoury

These teachers have mentored, organised, motivated and coached these students and have turned up to a whole range of debates which covered Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights in their own time. Thank you.

We look forward to seeing our students continue this journey win or lose. We are very proud of their achievements so far.

In particular thank you to Miss Adriana Skibola and Miss Alix Stirling, who have coordinated the debating competition this year and continued to build in an area that is providing ever-increasing reward.

Congratulations Clancy

Congratulations to all the students who received Distinctions and High Distinctions in Geography. These students received a letter from our Executive Director of Catholic Education, Dr Dan White in recognition of their outstanding achievements in this area. Congratulations go to:

Distinction -

Christian Martinazzo (Yr 8)

Kirsten Shields (Yr9)

High Distinction -

Miguel Howard (Yr7) Samuel Stella (Yr 7)

Brendan Wiles (Yr7) Roy Dela Cruz (Yr 7)

Isabella Gagliano (Yr 8)

Nadia Acitelli (Yr 9)

Congratulations to Kirsten Jelinek who has a published article in last weeks Liverpool Champion. The article features our World Youth Day pilgrims on Page 7. Kirsten is a budding journalist who has been encouraged to continue her interest here.

Southern Sydney Combined Catholic College Carnival

Clancy Catholic College had the privilege of convening this year's Southern Sydney Combined Catholic College Carnival. Michael Bell our Sports Coordinator led the organisation and planning of this very large event.

Eight Secondary Catholic Co-educational schools competed. It was a privilege to see our Year 9 PASS Class attend to support the teachers and students.

I think the day was a wonderful advertisement for our students. Many teachers from other schools complimented them on their assistance, respect and attention to detail that they showed.

A very pleasing result was that Clancy came 3rd overall. We have two Age Champions, Andrew Lentini from Year 10 and Isabella Moro from Year 12.

The Clancy girls in fact came 2nd over all, which is an enormous achievement and affirmation for the great work that occurs here through sport.

Congratulations to every student who competed and to the Year 9 PASS Class for their help at the event. A big thank you to those 7 teachers from Clancy Catholic College who attended on the day to assist.

From the Religious Education Department

As we begin Term 3, we prepare for some significant liturgical and College events. This term is the final one for formal schooling for Year 12. Next week as they begin their Trial Examinations we wish them success and pray that all of their hard work will be rewarded with success. Our community will again participate in the Prayer Partnership Program, where each Pastoral class will pray for the Year 12 students, offering as much support as we can in this significant time in their lives. At the end of this term we celebrate and give thanks for their enormous contribution to the life of our College with a Graduation Mass at Holy Spirit Catholic Church on Thursday 19 September.

This term also provides opportunities for Reflection Days for Years 8, 9 and 10. This is a really important day to 'retreat' from the busy-nature of our lives and reconnect with our faith and what we value most. Each of these Reflection Days are organised by external facilitators and supported by their Pastoral Teachers, and is a very important event in their life at the College.

In week 4, Social Justice Week begins. This coincides with the Feast Day of St Mary MacKillop of the Cross, inspired by her philosophy of 'never see a need without doing something about it'. Our community launches our social justice initiatives at this time, recognising the needs of others in our local and global community. This culminates in Clancy Day when all students participate in stalls to raise money for these causes. More information regarding Clancy Day will be sent home, the stalls range from food stalls including cakes, BBQ and games. Any donations are welcome.

A reminder that Pastoral Masses will continue each Tuesday at 8.00am this term. Next Tuesday, 30 July, 9.2 Pastoral Class will lead the ministry, followed by 9.3 on 6 August. All are welcome, in particular the families of these Pastoral Classes.

On 15 August we celebrate the Feast of the Assumption, as this is a Holy Day of Obligation we gather as a full school community to celebrate Mass here in the Main Yard and all families are welcome to attend. Mass will begin at 11.30am celebrated by Fr Noel Short. More information will be provided closer to the date.

Clancy Cup Points

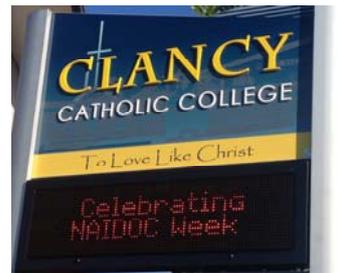

End of Term 2, 2013

Congratulations to all students for their endeavour and participation so far this year. As you can see below, it is a very close race. Remember, all you contribute to the College can be counted in the Clancy Cup race.

Chisholm House – 1235 pts
Ozanam House - 1195 pts
Teresa House – 1020 pts
Luther King House – 1005 pts
John Paul II House–1000 pts
Mary MacKillop House – 955 pts

NAIDOC Week Celebrations 22-26 July

Starting the term on a high we saw Clancy Catholic College students engaging in the celebrations of NAIDOC Week. Students had the opportunity to partake in Yulunga Games, attempt questions in a competition on NAIDOC Week, wear NAIDOC Week wrist bands and badges and hear from a guest speaker of the Kamilaroi Tribe, Mr Wayne Ellis.

Mr. Ellis exposed the students to didgeridoo playing, where he created sounds that mirrored the sounds of animals in the environment such as dingoes, kookaburras and kangaroos. The students were shown how dance is taught to the young children through a demonstration. Mr Ellis performed a dance using sounds created by banging sticks together and had the students join in creating the rhythm by clapping their hands in time with the sticks.

The opportunities provided to the student body gave recognition to the purpose of NAIDOC Week and a chance for students to connect with the celebrations.

Student eLearning Portal

A reminder to all students that the Student eLearning Portal is a place for you to access important information around:

- Assessment Notifications
- Daily Notices
- Student email
- Board of Studies

From here, you will also find links to our College World Youth Day Blog, enabling you to follow our pilgrims. Year 12 students also have access to the HSCLIVE Webinar site for tutorials around their HSC Courses.

To access the portal, students simply go to the College Website (clancy.nsw.edu.au), hover their mouse over “Staff and Student Links” and select “Student eLearning Portal”. We ask that all students bookmark this site on their College laptops. Parents may also like to do the same to stay connected with College Life.

Debating

This year has been another incredibly successful year in Debating for Clancy Catholic College. We entered six teams into the SWCCDA Competition, one from each Year Group and two Senior Teams.

Our Debating students have shown incredible prowess, skill, courage and dedication over the seven week competition. Students have tackled difficult topics ranging from Feminism, Animal Testing, TV News, even Rap Music and its Impact on Young People.

Debating provides students with a wonderful challenge and life-long skills: to articulate and organise one’s thoughts, to engage and persuade an audience, to develop rhetoric and vocabulary, to consider, learn about and participate in local, national and global events and current affairs and of course to foster and harness personal confidence.

We applaud all of our teams and thank them for their enthusiasm, commitment and rigour. In particular, we congratulate the Year 12 team who made it to the Semi Final and our Year 7 and 8 Teams who have debated outstandingly throughout the competition and have earned themselves a place in the Grand Final. This takes place this Friday at All Saints Catholic Girls College, Liverpool at 6.00pm. You are most welcome to come and cheer them on!

We also thank a number of staff who have coached, adjudicated or come to support our teams this year. In particular, Mrs Drego, Mrs McKell, Mrs Giusti, Miss Burfitt, Miss Porters and Mrs Batty.

Our debating students are listed below. We look forward to providing an update on the Grand Final results in the next edition of our newsletter.

Year 12 Modern History Excursion

On Wednesday the 26 June, the Year 12 Modern History class along with Miss Deguara and Mr Holland, attended the Sydney Jewish Museum in Darlinghurst. The day involved students participating in a lecture run by Arie, a Jewish University lecturer who discussed Albert Speer’s role in the Holocaust. The lecture was then followed by a story told by Eddie Jaku, a Holocaust survivor. He recounted his experience and greatly deepened our understanding and empathy. We then went on a self-guided tour around the museum, which included a children’s memorial and a memorial for each of the Jewish individuals lost in Concentration Camps. We had a great day and found the excursion to be an enriching experience.

Study Skills Tip from the Library

Prioritising using ‘Rock, Pebbles, Sand’

Do you ever find that you spend a long time doing little fiddly things, and then find that you have no time left for the larger, more important tasks that you need to get done?

Try this experiment. Take a jar, some rocks, some pebbles and sand. What happens if you put the sand in first then the pebbles? The rocks won’t fit. But if you do it the other way, by putting the rocks in first, next placing the pebbles around rocks, then finally sprinkling in the sand, it all fits no problem at all.

What does this mean? It is an analogy for how to make the most of blocks of time. If you focus on the big tasks first (the rocks), you will still find time for the smaller tasks (the pebbles) and the least important tasks (the sand). But it doesn’t work the other way as you just end up spending more time on less important things.

So, next time you feel like you have 100 things to do and have little or no time to do them, don't feel overwhelmed. Try this:

Draw up a table with 3 columns and put all your work into these columns:

ROCKS - the important and urgent tasks.

PEBBLES - the tasks that may also be important, but are not as urgent.

SAND - the little fiddly tasks that you can slot in anywhere.

Then work through the tasks in the order of rocks first, pebbles second and finally, the sand.

Another approach you might like to try is the Rule of Three Technique:

- Circle the top 3 tasks that need to be done. Decide what is most important and most urgent;
- Put them in order from 1 to 3;
- Start at the first task and finish it before moving onto the second (don't cheat yourself – you have to complete the first task fully before moving onto the second!);
- Once all three tasks are completed, return to your list and choose the next top 3 tasks.

There are many different methods of prioritising. You need to try different ones and see what works for you. So, what are you waiting for? Prioritise and make a start!

From the Creative and Performing Arts Department

Well, is there ever a quiet Term for CAPA? No!
This is perhaps our busiest time for our students who are preparing for the actual HSC examinations that take place around August and September.

The first Tuesday night of this term saw the Drama Class present their performance works to an enthusiastic crowd who enjoyed the vast array of talent on display. This class have continued the legacy of Drama as an expression of the individual that encompasses all facets of the Arts. Congratulations are in order to Miss Stirling and the Year 12 class for their performances. The Year 11 Drama students, under the direction of Mrs McKell, provided all the technical support on the night.

The Visual Arts department are gearing up for the submission of their Major Works this term, under the direction of Miss Bezzina. Students are working on the final additions and consolidation of works ready for the examiners. We wish them all the very best in preparing their works.

During the holidays we had Nicole De Leon of Year 11 attend the National Art School workshops. She was chosen for this position after the submission of her work to a panel.

The Music department has performers and their accompanists working hard on their final arrangements of their Elective choices. These include Performances, Compositions and Viva Voce's. No doubt you will hear some great music floating around the school in the next two months.

Clancy Day! Perhaps the biggest event in the school this Term. Once again we are looking to give students a stage to perform and share their talents with us. The Concert will take place on Friday 30 August and will see talent from all Year Groups performing for the school community. Details are available at the Front Office.

We would like to thank all students who support and encourage the growth of the Arts at Clancy.

ACMF National Song Writing Competition

HSC Drama Performance Night

Congratulations to the HSC Drama students who last Tuesday presented their performance works as part of their HSC Trial Examinations.

It takes enormous courage to step in front of an audience to present an original work, and our Year 12 students displayed their bravery as well as their skill, creativity and dedication.

The students have created an original performance in groups as a compulsory component of the HSC Drama Course. In addition, they complete an Individual Project, which may be a performance or a design project.

The students have another five weeks to further tweak and manipulate their Group Devised pieces and Individual Projects in preparation for the HSC Performance Examination in August.

I am incredibly proud of these students and wish them every success in their final few weeks of rehearsal.

World Youth Day

At the Airport before leaving to their Pilgrimage

Pamploma Day 1: Staircase Building

What an amazing, eye-opening day yesterday was! We travelled to a town called Pamploma, which is not far outside of the Peruvian capital of Lima. This community basically lives on mud slopes and are therefore, in great need of staircases to assist them getting about.

The town has no running water (in fact it is delivered by truck) and little to no electricity, yet what they lack in material wealth they make up for in spiritual wealth. This is because this community considers itself rich because they have a church.

The Clancy pilgrims did us proud, as they got straight into the hard work of shovelling, mixing, transporting and pouring cement. This was definitely an experience for the students and something that they would not witness anywhere in Australia. I know that visiting this special place deeply impacted many of the pilgrims.

Premier's Reading Challenge 2013

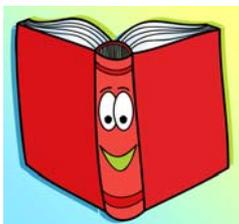

A reminder that there are only three weeks to go before the Premier's Reading Challenge concludes for another year.

Students who successfully complete the Challenge by reading twenty books that have been nominated on the PRC list, will be awarded a certificate and have their names placed on the PRC Honour Roll.

Also, each time students finish reading five books, they will be given a merit certificate from the College. So, students who have chosen to participate in the Challenge are reminded to keep reading and to see Ms. Rooke to notify her of your progress. All reading log booklets must be returned to Ms. Rooke by Friday of Week 5.

Finally, a big congratulations to Ervin Kumar (7.1) and Peter Everingham (8.4) who successfully completed the Challenge last term. Well done to you both.
